

satellite radio is probably the single most important thing that has happen to todays media..in a day where radio and its content is governed by money hungry businesses that have no concern for what "we" have to listen to XM radio is a breath of fresh air...its where the listener is in charge of content with variety for all...i hope the satellite concept someday put the high profile, high advertise, highly duplicated, commercial radio to its demise...